ONLY 6,000 U. S. TROOPS TO REMAIN ON THE RHINE SIX WEEKS FROM NOW

Pershing Says America Will Keep Faith With Allies if Trouble Comes.

Force on German Territory Begins Homeward Journey—Early Units

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH) PARIS, July 3.—Six weeks from now the American troops in Germany will number not more than 6,000—providing the Germans show an intention in the meantime to carry out the terms of the peace treaty faithfully.

General John J. Pershing made this announcement at a conference with American newspaper men today. His eyes flashing and lighting up his lean, virile face, he added:

"We will not pull out, however, and give the impression that America is shifting the responsibility to somebody else. We must remember our word of honor and our flag are here."

Amer's Army of Occupation ceased to exist today. It will be known henceforth as the "American Force in Germany" or "on the Rhine."

General Henry Allen, former commander of the Ninth Division will command it, General Hunter Liggett returning home at his own request. The force will be stationed at one point, probably Coblenz.

Of the five American divisions now on the Rhine, the Fourth and Fifth Divisions are preparing to move homeward within the next few days. The Second and Third Divisions are scheduled to follow in a few weeks.

The last remaining American division—the First—is composed of regulars. It will be reduced gradually to one regiment, with auxiliary bodies.

"Black Jack" Pershing's face beamed with pride as he described the American Expeditionary Force as an army which never has been equalled in history of morale and fighting qualities, though he added modestly that it was up to the American people to decide whether or not his troops had done their work well.

He praised the educational program now in effect in the American Expeditionary Force in France, as democratic and spoke of the possibility of linking this with the proposed universal military service plan, which he said was "splendid."

General Pershing's headquarters is being removed from Chaumont to Paris. Brest hereafter will be the only port of debarkation. Pershing himself expects to return to the United States in August or September.

The American Commander in Chief denied today the reports that vast stores of American materials had been burned. He said nothing of value had been destroyed.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Only 1,000,000 men, of whom a little more than 400,000 remain overseas, now are under arms, according to an announcement today by the War Department. At the present rate of homeward movement the American Army of Occupation would consist of only two divisions August 1, it was said.

Aliens Will Cut Wheat July 4th Without a Jug

COLUMBUS, July 3.—Down at Crescent, in Belmont county, 29 Austrians will cut wheat, July 4 as a second thought from an original plan to carry on a "red" demonstration.

The lesson in industry and Americanization will be given peaceably by former State Representative E. N. Boggs.

Boggs is a farmer and had a fine 16-acre field of wheat that was lying flat. He told the aliens about it, and their leader agreed to cut the wheat and harvest it by hand since reapers could not be used. The aliens, however, said they must have a two-gallon jug of whisky.

Boggs could not make good on the intoxicating end, due, first, to his own temperance notions and secondly, to the activity of his chosen leader, William J. Bryan, and others.

He substituted an offer of a five-spot to every worker. The aliens are going to give the countryside a demonstration of antiquated European methods of harvest with hand-made scythes sharpened by hammer blows.

COBLENZ, July 3.—All censorship over the dispatches of correspondents with the American army and censorship of soldiers' mail and telegrams, will cease tonight.

STRIKE OF TELEGRAPH OPERATORS FAILURE; SOME PLACES FILLED

NEW YORK, July 3.—The strike of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union against the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies was called off, it was announced by Percy Thomas, Vice President of the organization.

Edward Reynolds, Vice President and general manager of the Postal Company, announced after he was informed that the strike had been called off that those strikers who wished to return to work could do so, "though they had to risk finding their places filled."

When the strike was called no grievances were alleged by the strike leaders against the Postal Company, although the call included employees of the company.

At the offices of the Western Union it was said that men wishing reinstatement would have their claims passed upon by a committee of employees.

CHICAGO, July 3.—The strike of telegraphers which began June 11 was called off by S. J. Koenekamp, president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America.

A statement addressed to the members of the organization by President Koenekamp read in part:

FIRST GOVERNOR GENERAL OF DOMINION OF IRELAND, IF RUMOR IS THE TRUTH

Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy Rumor has it that Ireland will be proclaimed a dominion within six months, with Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy as governor general. Sir Thomas, who was born in Milwaukee in 1853, was knighted after he had rendered valuable service during the war in directing railway transportation. Starting in the railroad business at the age of sixteen he rose until he became president of the Canadian Pacific.

Urges Increase Pay in Schools

COLUMBUS, July 3.—An urgent argument to boards of education to increase the pay of teachers to a more adequate standard is addressed to the school boards of Ohio by F. B. Pearson, superintendent of the state department of public instruction, in a letter sent out today.

The point driven home by the superintendent is summarized in this one sentence of his letter:

"If we have cheap schools, inevitably we shall have cheap civilization."

Mr. Pearson says it is becoming increasingly difficult to induce young men to make the necessary preparation for the work of teaching and that the reason lies in the lack of attractive inducements.

He points out that while there are those who believe stenographers and teachers receive parallel pay, it should be remembered stenographers average about $75 a month the year around, or $900 a year, while the teachers receive $600, actually 550 per cent. less than a stenographer for the whole year.

"When the present strike was declared against the telegraph companies under control of the Wire Administration, it was understood that it would not be made an endurance contest. The strike was to be the final protest against the unfair and unjust treatment we have received since August, 1918, at the hands of the Wire Administration."

"You have sought a minimum of the things which the present Government Administration says all workers should enjoy. You not only have been denied these rights, but governmental agencies have been used to prevent you getting them by exercising your own economic strength."

"We find that sending telegrams from city to city in suit cases now is permissible, although Western Union officials were arrested for doing so a year ago. We find that telegrams are being mailed without restrictions. The telegraph officials say the government is footing the strike losses, thereby adding this factor to our forces."

"We are doubly unfortunate in having to deal with a governmental representative in the person of Mr. Burleson, who will yield no concessions to the workers unless it is forced from him."

UNITED STATES, FRANCE, GREAT BRITAIN SUBMIT TREATY TO WORLD LEAGUE

France to be Protected Against Assembling of German Forces Within 30 Miles East of Rhine

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH) PARIS, July 3.—The texts of the agreements between France and the United States and France and Great Britain were given out by the foreign office last night.

The agreement with the United States cites articles of the peace treaty prohibiting Germany from fortifying either the right or left bank of the Rhine or assembling forces within thirty miles east of the Rhine, and provides, in case these provisions do not assure France proper security and protection, the United States is bound to come immediately to the aid of France in any unprovoked act of aggression made against her by Germany.

It is provided that the treaty shall be submitted to the council of the league of nations which will decide whether to recognize it as an engagement in conformity with the league covenant and also provides that the treaty shall be submitted to the United States senate and the French parliament for approval.

The text of the treaty follows:

"Considering that the United States of America and the government of the French republic are equally animated by a desire to maintain the peace of the world, so happily restored by the treaty signed at Versailles on June 28, which put an end to the war begun by the aggression of the German empire and terminated by the defeat of that power and considering that the United States of America and the government of the French republic are fully convinced that an unprovoked aggression directed by Germany against France would not only violate at the same time the letter and spirit of the Versailles treaty to which the United States and France are parties, thus exposing France anew to the intolerable burden of unprovoked war, but that such aggression on the part of Germany would constitute an act repudiated by the Versailles as being against all the powers signatory to the treaty and calculated to trouble the peace of the world, involving inevitably and directly the states of Europe and indirectly the entire world, as experience has amply and unhappily demonstrated, and considering that the United States of America and the government of the French republic apprehend that the stipulations concerning the left bank of the Rhine cannot assure immediately to France, on one hand, and to the United States on the other, as signatory powers to the treaty of Versailles, appropriate security and protection."

"Consequently the United States of America and the government of the French republic having decided to conclude a treaty to realize these necessary ends, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, and Robert Lansing, secretary of state, specially authorized to that end by the president of the United States of America, and Georges Clemenceau, president of the council of ministers and minister of war, and Stephen Pichon, minister of foreign affairs, specially authorized to that end by Raymond Poincaré, president of the French republic have agreed upon the following:

"Article 1.—The following stipulations concerning the left bank of the Rhine are contained in the peace treaty signed with Germany at Versailles June 28, 1919, by the United States of America, the government of the French republic and by the British empire, among other powers.

"Article 54.—Germany is prohibited from maintaining or constructing fortifications either on the left bank of the Rhine or on the right bank west of a line running fifty kilometers to the east of that river.

"Article 52.—In the area defined above maintenance and the assembly of armed forces, either permanently or temporarily and military manoeuvres of any kind, as well as the upkeep of all permanent works for mobilization are in the same way forbidden.

"Article 54.—In case Germany violates in any manner whatever the provisions of any kind, she shall be regarded as committing a hostile act against the powers signatory of the present treaty and as calculated to disturb the peace of the world.

"In case these stipulations should not assure immediately to France appropriate security and protection the United States of America shall be bound to come immediately to her aid in case of any unprovoked act of aggression directed against her by Germany."

"Article 2.—The present treaty, couched in terms analogous to those of a treaty concluded on the same date and to the same end between Great Britain and the French republic a copy of which is hereto annexed will not enter into force until the moment when the latter is ratified.

"Article 3.—The present treaty must be submitted to the council of the Society of Nations and must be recognized by the council, deciding by majority, as an engagement in conformity with the covenant of the society. It will remain in force until upon demand of one of the parties to the treaty, the council, deciding if occasion arise by a majority finds that the society itself assumes sufficient protection.

"Article 4.—The present treaty shall before ratification be submitted to the chambers of the French parliament for approval and it shall be submitted to the senate of the United States of America at the same time as the treaty of Versailles shall be submitted for assent to ratification. Ratifications shall be exchanged at the time of deposit in Paris of the ratifications of the treaty at Versailles or as soon afterwards as possible.

Then follow the signatures of M. Clemenceau, M. Pichon, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Lansing.

The agreement between Great Britain and France corresponds with that between the United States and France, with an additional provision that the treaty imposes no obligation upon any of the dominions of the British empire unless and until it be approved by the parliament of each dominion interested. This agreement is signed by M. Clemenceau, M. Pichon, David Lloyd-George, British premier, and A. J. Balfour, British secretary of state for foreign affairs.

FOREIGN MINISTER IN NEW GERMAN CABINET

Hermann Mueller In the new German cabinet, formed under the premiership of Herr Bauer, formerly minister of labor, Hermann Mueller, majority Socialist leader who was under secretary of the War Food Bureau, holds the post of minister of foreign affairs. Mueller was one of the most conspicuous German delegates at the International Socialist Conference, which met in Bern in February.

BRITISH TO DEPORT IG. T. LINCOLN AS AN ENEMY SPY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH) LONDON, July 3.—Ignatius Trilich Lincoln, former member of parliament, who has been in prison here since 1916 as a self-confessed spy, will soon be deported to Germany.

Ignatius T. Lincoln, formerly an Austrian subject, but later a naturalized Englishman was arrested in Brooklyn, N. Y., on August 4, 1915, on a charge of forgery preferred by the British consul in New York. After his arrest he declared he was a German spy and that England wanted to try him for the offense.

At that time the United States and Germany were not at war and the case proved quite troublesome to the federal authorities. His extradition on the allegation of forgery was ordered by the United States district court but Lincoln continued to fight by trying to obtain his liberty by means of a writ of habeas corpus. This was later denied by the federal courts but Lincoln managed to delay his deportation to England by escaping from a United States deputy marshal on January 15, 1916, remaining at liberty for over a month. He was deported on May 27, 1916.

AGAINST GENERAL STRIKE. SEATTLE, Wash., July 3.—The Seattle central labor council announced today its members voted 76 to 67 against calling a general strike here July 4 on behalf of Thomas J. Mooney, now confined in California prison following his conviction on the charge of murder in connection with the preparedness day parade bomb explosion in San Francisco in 1916.

BRITISH AIR SHIP HALF WAY ACROSS

Cruises Above Fog and is Reported Safe by Warships On Route.

Expected to Reach St. Johns, N. F., Friday and Long Island Saturday.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH) LONDON, July 3.—The British air ministry announced today that it expected the dirigible R-34, now in mid-ocean on her trans-Atlantic flight, to reach St. Johns, N. F., on Friday morning, and Hazelhurst field, L. I., early on Saturday morning.

The giant airship continued her progress today at 10 o'clock, Greenwich time, (6 o'clock New York time), reported her position as 52 degrees 50 minutes north latitude, 21 degrees west longitude, indicating that she had gone due west four degrees since her report at 6:11 o'clock Greenwich time.

The report from the giant airship R-34 to the air ministry at 9 o'clock Greenwich time, (5 o'clock New York time), showed that she was continuing her progress in an almost due westerly course. At 9 o'clock Greenwich time her position was 52 degrees 50 minutes north latitude and 21 degrees 30 minutes west longitude. The report said the airship was cruising above a fog.

The British warship Renown, stationed in mid-Atlantic, reported at 6:15 o'clock this morning that the barometer was steady, the wind was blowing about four miles an hour from the northwest, the sky was clear and visibility good and the sea was smooth.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., July 3.—Vice Admiral Mark Kerr announced today that he had abandoned the proposed trans-Atlantic flight in a Handley Page bombing machine and that instead he would fly to Atlantic City, probably starting this afternoon, if the weather permits.

CHAUTAUQUA OPENS. CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 3.—The 45th annual session of the Chautauqua Assembly opened this morning for seven weeks with an attendance far exceeding that of recent years. All of the five hundred cottages on the assembly grounds are occupied. Among the speakers today were Arthur E. Bestor, the president of the institution, who presided, and Robert F. Fitch, of Hangchow, China.

MAYOR TALKS BACK AT COUNCILMEN ON WATER WORKS ISSUE

Mayor Simpson today is at a loss to understand what councilmen mean when they say the local water works must be put on a self-sustaining basis even though water rates must be raised, for, according to the mayor, this utility has always paid for itself, and he can see no reason why it shouldn't now, nor why there is any reason for increasing the rates.

However, the mayor did cite, where a number of years ago, the city was forced to borrow money to pay off a debt incurred by the water works, but this was really due to improvements and experiments. Finance committee of council met last night, and resolved to make some move whereby estimates for the last six months of this year may be raised for the maintenance of the water works.

According to the estimate returned to Service Director Metheny, it will require about $15,000 more for the coming six months than it did for the past. Several suggestions were made by members of the committee. The most probable ones were either to cut down operating expenses in some manner or raise the water rates.

Other items considered last night were the safety department and John and Paulot parks. On the estimate handed to the body by Safety Director Gale is a list of "absolute necessities," which carried the department some $30,000 above the estimated revenue.

Lincoln park will, in all probability, have a wading pool for youngsters of that neighborhood, as the committee last night appropriated $750 for the maintenance of the park and playground. The moving of barns in Paulot park was also considered, and it is estimated it will cost about $700 to do this.

Approximately $195,000 will be appropriated for the ensuing six months' expenses by the ordinance which is likely to be passed by council at its regular meeting Monday night. At this meeting will also be discussed the probability of purchasing government food supplies for Lima citizens. This project at present seems plausible, and if done, will prove a great advantage to residents of Lima, as certain foods may be obtained very much cheaper, councilmen say.

Find Wheat Scab In Hancock Co.

FINDLAY, July 3.—Wheat scab has been found to be prevalent in fields inspected by County Agent E. M. Rowe in Hancock county, and H. L. Lewis, an expert of the United States agricultural department this week.

In fields near Rawson the scab was found to have affected the wheat to the extent of 75 per cent or more.

BUFFINGTON, July 3.—Wheat in this vicinity is being damaged by an insect which lays eggs inside the hollow stalk of the straw. The stalk in many cases is cut by the insect, causing the heads of the wheat to break off. Samples of the injured wheat have been sent to the state experiment station for analysis.

THERE WAS NO STRIKE. WASHINGTON, July 3.—Postmaster General Byleson today issued this statement in connection with the termination of the strike of commercial telegraphers:

"The truth is there has been no strike. It failed from the moment it was called because the operators, respecting the broad policy of the wire control board relative to employees and recognizing that strikes were not permissible during the period of governmental control, refused to respect the order to strike."

JERSEY FIRE CHIEF HERE. G. E. Koebel, chief of the fire department at Bloomfield, New Jersey, is visiting friends and relatives in this city. Chief Koebel is en route from Kansas City where he attended the National Convention of Fire Engineers. The visitor is being shown around this afternoon by Chief John Mack.

FIRE IN Y. M. C. A. CHICAGO, July 3.—Fire on the nineteenth floor of the Y. M. C. A. hotel early today sent 1,700 young men scurrying down the stairs and stairways to the street. Few were fully clad and some were without any clothing. The fire caused damage of only $5,000.

WILL TRY FORMER KAISER DECLARES BRITISH PREMIER

LONDON, July 3.—The former German emperor will soon be placed on trial, Premier Lloyd-George made this announcement in the house of commons today in his report on the peace negotiations.

The German army, the premier said, was at present inadequate to disturb the peace of the feeblest of the neighbors of Germany.

The premier declared that the tribunal which would try the former emperor would sit in London.

The terms of the treaty with Germany in some respects were terrible, the premier said, but terrible were the deeds which justified it and still more terrible would have been the consequences if Germany had succeeded.

German officers who had committed appalling atrocities, the premier added, would also be placed on trial.

Mr. Lloyd-George declared that the British delegation has taken a stand resolutely opposing any attempt to put a predominantly German population under Polish rule.

Gampers Finally Furnishes Figures On a Light Plant

After many delays, alibis and excuses Herman Gampers, of Columbus, lighting expert, late yesterday afternoon returned to civic Director Metheny an estimate of the erection of a municipal lighting system. Very little information was given out today by city officials relative to the report. They say council will decide upon it before anything definite is made public.

Service Director Metheny today stated, Gampers estimate on the cost of the erection of a plant to operate 600 lights will cost approximately $41,000, and to operate 900 lamps will cost about $91,000. This includes the cost of wire, poles and other items. It is understood.

The report was turned over to Councilman Foster, chairman of the finance committee, who is considering the project before presenting it to council Monday night.

THE RAMBLER'S COLUMN

The old song said "And He Rambled all Around."

The service department of the city has been putting in some good ticks lately but it can put in a good many more.

There has been a big hole in the brick pavement on South Jameson avenue not far from the residence of Postmaster Jim Sullivan that has at last been leveled up, and a lot of folks who drive automobiles out that way will return thanks to whoever did it.

West North street, between Baxter and Charles, has been in bad shape for months. We might say, years, there having been a lot of big holes in the brick pavement. Somebody has filled 'em up, and that will help some.

If you own an automobile drive around the streets of Lima in the evenings and get acquainted with your own town.

Met a man the other evening who has a car and he told me he didn't see anything in driving around town. Thinks all the fun there is in an automobile is in driving 100 to 200 miles on Sunday.

Don't agree with him. Have had a world of pleasure and have found out a lot of things about Lima by driving around, making an effort to reach every part of the city.

Incidentally in driving around, notice that the concrete paved portion of the Elida road, inside the city limits is in a very, very bad condition.

Don't now who it belongs to, city or county, but it is "all shot," as the soldiers say.

Yankee-German Marriage Barred

COBLENZ, July 3.—Marriages between American soldiers and German women are forbidden by the army regulations pending ratification of the peace treaty by the United States and Germany. The judge advocate's department of the American forces on the Rhine tonight handed down a decision declaring that marriages under present conditions are illegal on the ground that the United States technically still is at war with Germany.

Officers said that any violation of this ruling would be prosecuted and that the offender would be tried either on a charge of communicating with the enemy or with disregarding fraternization regulations.

At army headquarters, however, inquiries continue to be received from soldiers eager to wed German girls.

MOTORISTS ARE INJURED. BELLEFONTAINE, July 3.—An automobile overturned this afternoon when it struck a new coating of crushed stone on the highway near Bellefontaine. The occupants of the machine J. E. Wilson, James O'Brien, Benjamin Powell and B. Fuhl, all of Springfield, were injured. The party was en route to Indian Lake park.

"Stronger Than Ever"

Some people say figures make dry reading, but everyone will be interested in this, showing the steady growth of The Allen County Savings & Loan Company, in the Savings Building.

January 1st, 1912, the company's total assets amounted to $728,372.75.

January 1st, 1915, these figures had increased to $1,985,347.10.

January 1st, 1918, they had grown to $1,665,988.48.

July 1st, 1919, this prosperous company shows total assets of $2,034,683.60.

The officers and directors of this strong institution are gratified with the good will and confidence of the public and are pleased to know that fairness and courtesy has brought such magnificent results.

FROM MILK TOAST TO A FULL DIET THIS VET'N WENT

NERV-WORTH MADE THE JOYOUS CHANGE POSSIBLE FOR GEORGE GROEBER

For eight years Mr. Groeber was financial editor of the Dayton News and what he says carries weight. What he did say about Nerv-Worth was said a short time ago, over his own signature to Dayton's Nerv-Worth druggist, in the following words:

Jenkins Drug Store—For several years I have been in a very bad nervous condition and during the past year I have suffered greatly with pains around my heart which greatly alarmed me. I was confined to a diet of milk toast. Could not eat anything else and even the toast did not digest. My reserve force was very low. Could not get restful sleep. Gas formed in my stomach and caused me much misery. Had rheumatic pains.

I tried the doctors, went to the hospital, but all to no avail. The trouble still continued. I came into your store one day and talked with the demonstrator. On that day I did not care whether I lived or died. I was very skeptical as to whether Nerv-Worth would help, but was assured it would. Now after using one bottle all the troubles mentioned have disappeared. I can eat anything I want. No more nervousness. No more bloating or pains around my heart. Sleep well. Have gained in strength and three pounds in weight. Nerv-Worth did its work promptly and efficiently and I recommend it to all.

Now let me return to the Pageant. Directly in front of the stage stands one of the greatest pipe organs of the world, purchased for this CENTENARY CELEBRATION COLUMBUS.

YOU MUST HEAR IT. You must see the master organist whose touch with hands and feet brings to your ears wonderful music sounds—harmonious and inspiring—from all nooks and corners of the great Coliseum.

Surrounding the organ is the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra of 75 pieces.

Have you ever heard this wonderful Orchestra?

If not, do so by all means. You can listen to it for hours and get joy and thrills out of every minute.

Topping off all this—a great chorus of colored folks, on one side of the Coliseum, and a great chorus of white folks, on the other side, totalling 2,000, join in a wave of song that will lift you to your feet when you hear it.

OH, THIS PAGEANT IS REALLY WONDERFUL.

And this, mind you—as big and as inspiring as it is—is only a part of this Great Exposition. Don't you want to see it? Don't you want to hear the grand, inspiring music?

You can see it for 50 cents, the entrance fee. You can see all day long all of the other parts of this CENTENARY CELEBRATION COLUMBUS—each one splendidly impressive.

CCC Centenary Celebration Columbus (OHIO)

Described by William C. Freeman, Associated with Paul Kelly, Inc., New York, Chicago, Detroit, Boston.

I have never been "upstairs" in a flying machine.

It must be a wonderful sensation to sail along through the air between Heaven and earth.

Bird-men fly over the State Fair Grounds at Columbus, where the CENTENARY CELEBRATION is taking place.

I don't know whether they purposely plan their air-sailing routes to take in the great panorama at the State Fair Grounds, but I notice when they fly over this inspiring scene they turn about again and again, seemingly greatly attracted and impressed.

What man has done in producing the flying machine, the submarine, wireless telegraphy, the telephone, the automobile, the tractor and the many other wonderful, useful and progressive things of the world—has been fairly matched by the composite genius of many minds in producing the CENTENARY CELEBRATION COLUMBUS.

So many unusual, instructive, appealing and delightful things have been assembled in this CENTENARY CELEBRATION COLUMBUS that you will marvel at them just as we have all marveled at the genius of man in uniting God's power with his, for the betterment of the world, as has been done in hundreds of ways.

But the greatest of all benefits that comes of uniting God's power with man's IS THAT WHICH LEADS MEN AND WOMEN TO THE PLANE OF APPRECIATION OF LIFE, its duties and its beauties.

To see former cannibals and head hunters live like civilized beings gives one confidence in humanity.

Ohio people should be very proud of their great Coliseum at the State Fair Grounds. Columbus building that seats 1600 people and has such splendid acoustic qualities that the voice carries perfectly to all parts of it and is heard distinctly.

To divert just a moment: Ohio people should also be very proud of the great Oval Amphitheatre at the State Fair Grounds where more than 50,000 people can be seated comfortably.

I don't know how many other places there are in America where 50,000 people can be seated to see part of a Great Exposition. But I know of no many; that's certain, so the State of Ohio may be counted as a Great Leader in producing at the Capital such splendid facilities for the entertainment of her people.

No wonder the management of the CENTENARY CELEBRATION place to display its marvelous exhibits.

Now let me return to the Pageant. Directly in front of the stage stands one of the greatest pipe organs of the world, purchased for this CENTENARY CELEBRATION COLUMBUS.

YOU MUST HEAR IT. You must see the master organist whose touch with hands and feet brings to your ears wonderful music sounds—harmonious and inspiring—from all nooks and corners of the great Coliseum.

Surrounding the organ is the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra of 75 pieces.

Have you ever heard this wonderful Orchestra?

If not, do so by all means. You can listen to it for hours and get joy and thrills out of every minute.

Topping off all this—a great chorus of colored folks, on one side of the Coliseum, and a great chorus of white folks, on the other side, totalling 2,000, join in a wave of song that will lift you to your feet when you hear it.

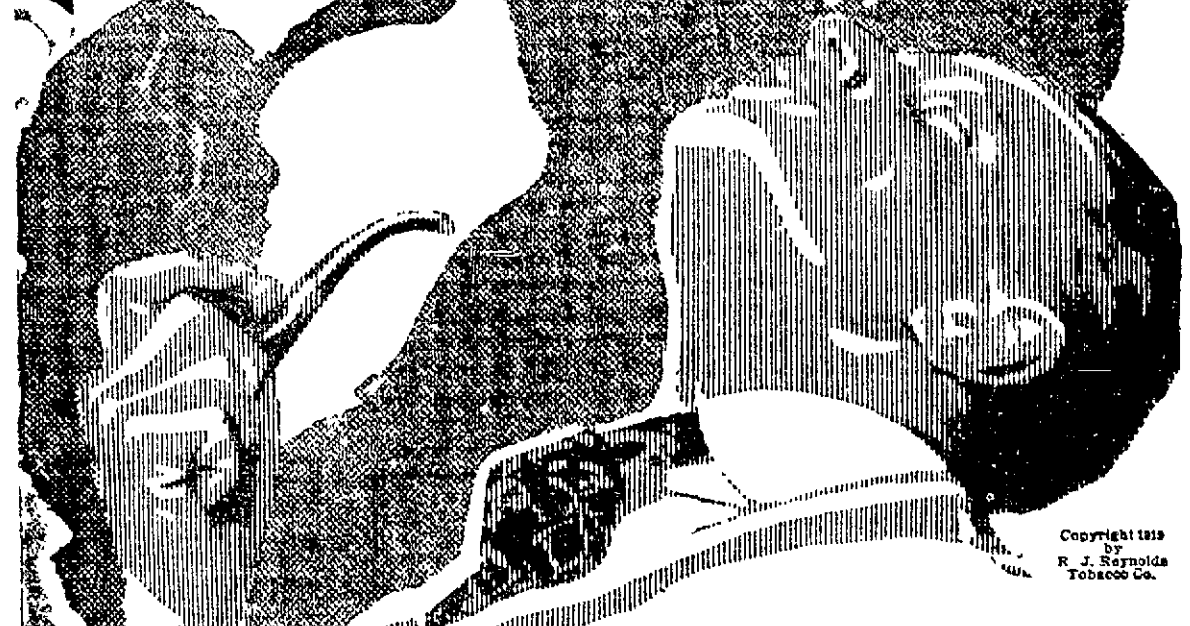

OH, THIS PAGEANT IS REALLY WONDERFUL.

And this, mind you—as big and as inspiring as it is—is only a part of this Great Exposition. Don't you want to see it? Don't you want to hear the grand, inspiring music?

You can see it for 50 cents, the entrance fee. You can see all day long all of the other parts of this CENTENARY CELEBRATION COLUMBUS—each one splendidly impressive.

TOMORROW—

Independence Day is the Greatest in the History
Of This Great Democracy
Celebrate This Day With Significance

THIS IS the most glorious Fourth we have celebrated for many years, yes the most important in the history of America. The cruel war has finally been settled and which was the most bloodiest conflict in the history of many nations. Our boys are returning daily from "over there" having endured all those hardships which was necessary to win the war.

NOW we must give due respect to those who declared this country a land of Liberty and to those Boys who fought through "thick and thin" a true reverence and respect that the peoples of America will celebrate with due significance and importance.

IN EVERY nook and corner of this great commonwealth there will be all sorts of festivities, mingling with friends, relatives from near and far in a spirit of brotherhood, everyone will realize that co-operation among mankind is essential to the harmony of every Country.

EVERY MAN, Woman and Child has made extensive preparations to spend July Fourth in some manner and some are indeed fortunate enough to celebrate several days but nevertheless July Fourth, 1919, will go down in history as the greatest National Holiday of the United States.

Gov. Cox and the Fight

GOV. COX'S refusal to stop the Willard-Dempsey fight at Toledo shows his appreciation of the fact that the governor is an administrator of the laws and not their maker, or interpreter. The legislature of Ohio has legalized certain forms of pugilistic entertainment and placed the regulation of these affairs in the hands of the municipalities. The Toledo municipal authorities have not only approved, but encouraged, the coming bout. It is beyond the province of the state executive to intervene. Persons who oppose the staging of the match had two recourses; they could have appealed either to the municipal authorities of Toledo or requested the legislature to enact preventive legislation. As neither of these expedients can be expected to produce results, the fight will be held.

One need not discount the motives of such organizations as the Ohio state Sunday school association in protesting against this pugilistic exhibition. Unquestionably the resolutions of this body calling on the governor were well intended and expressive of a conviction felt by thousands of good citizens that such exhibitions are demoralizing. But it is pretty well known that the primary promoters of this resolution—and of similar resolutions offered in church gatherings over the state—were crafty politicians who hoped to place the governor in an embarrassing position with the anti-pugilistic element of voters while keeping in the background themselves. These gentlemen are well aware of the fact that the governor has no authority whatever to prevent a contest legalized by the legislature. They knew better than to appeal to the legislature or the Toledo authorities themselves; as they calculated from a purely political standpoint, they realized that such action might involve alienation of the sporting element's vote. So they craftily hid behind the antipathy of church folk toward pugilism and took advantage of this antipathy to strike a blow at the governor's prestige with the church people.

This is pretty thin political maneuvering, but it's a sample of what we may expect for some time to come. Gov. Cox's statement on the fight matter, however, was straightforward and sound. It should convince even the most ardent opponent of prize-fighting except those who are unable to see more than one side of a question.

Wars the Beginning of Enterprise

A STUDENT of history, familiar with the conditions following wars the world over and in all ages says that great wars have usually developed such intense human energy that, in spite of the devastation and waste of accumulated wealth which they have caused, they have often been the beginning of new forms of economic enterprise. He says that this may be ascribed probably to the fact that the human energy released from war by the coming of peace is in character young, confident and buoyant, on the winning side, and on all sides also it is still an energy that with peace seeks new outlets under less restraint than could have been possible under pre war conditions.

There has never been a war where so great a proportion of the world was involved, nor one where so many people were affected. We have no reliable data, therefore, by which to be governed in this instance. But it is reasonably certain that the human energy now released from war will shove the world forward much faster than it was going before the disaster came upon us.

On the face of things, it is depressing to contemplate the condition of the world today. So much of idleness, so much misery, so much distress all over Europe, and in Asia—it is depressing to take stock of the situation, and only the dreamer dare express his views as to what will follow. But there is so much brilliant minds are new as to what will follow. But there is so much of this "released energy" in the world, so many brilliant minds are working feverishly to promote prosperity, so great is the effort being made in all nations to bring about immediate readjustments, it will be strange if we do not emerge from the darkness about us into the most glorious light the human race has ever known. The greatest of all wars may usher in the greatest of all peace.

Begrudging Insurance Money

IT TAKES all kinds of persons to make a world, but the most curious type is the man who takes out an insurance policy and, when payment of premium is due, begrudges the money as a total waste, because he is alive and, therefore, no one can collect the insurance. He forgets the protection he has enjoyed, and the protection he is getting in the future. It is such a type of person who is decriing naval costs, as emphasized by the recent decision to dispose of as junk or as targets a dozen pre-dreadnought battleships that cost about $90,000,000 and that are now practically useless.

Figured in proportion to the population of the country between the years 1893 and 1901, when these ships were constructed, they cost each citizen of that time about one dollar. The ships in question—such as the Oregon, Indiana, Ohio, Massachusetts, Iowa and Kentucky—have played important parts in the protection of our country and some of them have written glorious pages in history, at the time of the Spanish-American war. At one dollar per person the achievements alone, regardless of the protection and insurance, made the investment in these battleships well worth while.

HAPPY THOUGHT We wouldn't give a nickel to see that prize fight, but at that we'd like to know who's going to win tomorrow.

Our telegraph editor says he never can understand why a married man is so interested in a prize fight, when he gets into a bigger fuss every day himself.

Funny those two big fellows up at Toledo had to wait until the world war was over before they could get into a fight, wasn't it, buddy?

GOOD EVENING—Most husbands must think that a little bit of material must be mighty high priced these days, judging from the July first bills for the summer dresses.

The Times' Family Doctor

ANGER AND LACK OF CONTROL
CAUSES OF SOME VOICE LOSSESBy DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D. (John Hopkins University)

The old saw that he "who falls short in the head must be long in the heels" applies rather to the "inwards" and inside of the skull and not to loss of hair. While it may not be altogether true that a bald head means a rich growth of the intellect inside, it is equally fallacious to believe that luxuriant locks mean want of thought.

You have been struck perhaps by the frequency of bald heads among middle-aged men and the rarity of them among both younger and older gentry. Doubtless, if you are that one person in every 10,000 individuals whom scientists say really think, you have observed that it is the comfortable, self-satisfied man, who eats too often of the good things of life and exercises his muscles seldom if at all, who has a smooth and shiny dome.

Some authorities tell us that "uncivilized races, so-called, know nothing of baldness." True enough, bald patches are less common among wild tribes, but there is a reason for this. Slaughter, warfare and disease constantly interfere with the number of savages who live far beyond 30. Moreover, their opportunities of life are greatly as well as of sluttiness are greatly surpassed by the eternal necessity of movement action and muscular exercises.

Beware Tight Hats
A few wisecracks may scoff at the notion that luxury, ease and epicurean vices contribute to loss of hair. These also cast ridicule upon the fact that tight hat bands and constriction around the temples and forehead have a tendency to make the scalp sterile. Nevertheless this is true. The sweat bands of the men's hats, as compared with the headgear of women, spell the difference at times between the fertile hirsute fields of the fair sex and the bare, sterile landscape of the masculine model.

Bald-headed men are often mustached and whiskered like the greenward or meads of Asphodel. A plentiful growth of hirsute adornment on the face often goes hand in hand with a shining pate. Evidently baldness, then, is not only a general condition, but is concerned with something local as well. You may suspect what this is. It is a matter of nutrition. Fresh rationing of the scalp via the lymph, arterial and capillary canals which make their way upward through the skin to the scalp across the temples, forehead and occiput.

When the surgeon who devotes his skill to cranial operations finds it incumbent upon him to open the scalp and skull, he needs must first check the flow of the blood upward to prevent hemorrhages after his lancet gets busy.

To this end he encircles the head with an elastic band, which shuts up most of the veins of blood and lymph. The scalp then becomes pale anemic and nearly bloodless. It must be plain from this procedure that a tight hat plays high jinks with scalp nutrition and virtually starves the hair roots to death.

Indur Nutrition Factor
To be sure, vitamins and drink are not the only things needed by seeds in the soil. Mineral fertilizers are equally necessary. If masculine exercise, a simple diet rich in salts and minerals are wanting, if the fibres and flesh of the scalp suffers from starvation, inactivity or the invasion by moulds, galls and rusts, it will undergo the same setbacks which farmlands, orchards, wheat fields and plantations do under analogous circumstances.

Plainly the obvious plan of treatment is to augment the flow of blood to the scalp by athletics and gymnastics generally and by manipulation, massage, rubs, vibration and electricity locally applied.

The stiff hat, the tight fit, the close sweat band must all be sent up Bear Creek. Anything which interferes with the free circulation of blood in the scalp must be removed, while all that goes for its improvement is to be encouraged and made to assist in its work of fertilizing the scalp.

A—Kindly advise me what to do for same.

A—Open air sunlight, milk, meats, eggs, nuts, cereals, vegetables, but-ter fruits, all fresh country rations, light athletics and exercises are all conducive to the cure of blood defects. Open air sleeping, 10 grains of carbonate of iron in sugar-coated pellets, X-rays, bone marrow and a few drops of arsenic under a doctor's vigilant attention, all help.

2—Apply a little of the following to the affected parts:
Sulphur loti 2 1/2 drams
Balsam peru 1/2 dram
Camphor 1/2 dram
Green soap 1 dram
Lanolin 1/2 ounce
Vaseline 1/2 ounce

What Is the Question?

Are you, as natural gas users, willing to pay for SERVICE and get it? That is, natural gas service for cooking, hot water heaters and small room heating stoves; or do you want to pay a higher price for artificial gas?

That is the question.

You are hereby notified that The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has renewed, for the period of one year, its Administrative Order No. 34 which provides that during shortage of natural gas, large consumers shall be cut off; therefore, we hereby notify you that we will furnish natural gas for the following purposes ONLY, namely cooking, hot water heaters and small room heating stoves.

Short Stories of the Buckeye State

COLUMBUS' FIRST POLICEMAN

Samuel King was the first in line of the army of men who have been or are now serving in the police force of Ohio's capital city. Who he was, what he was like and whence he came, nobody now can tell. The probability is that he was an under-study of Jarvis Pike, the first mayor of Columbus, and had come with Pike to the new capital when the new state buildings were in process of construction to hold a state job. Pike we know more about. He was of the major dome kind—fond of conspicuity and official authority. Superintendents of the state buildings and grounds when they constituted the principal part of Columbus, he made himself a kind of king, and the people of the pioneer town came to look upon him as a boss. He must have had some of the qualities of leadership, however, for he would not have been selected for the office of mayor.

The mayor and his cabinet—the council—handed out the patronage and King seems to have secured about the first piece of it that came from their hands. The title was marshal of the borough and the compensation was only $50 a year. It could hardly have been required of him that he give all of his time to the duties of office, though in consideration of the low cost of living at the time his $50 was worth at least as much as $400 now. A few years later the salary was boosted to $250 a year, and seems to have remained at that until Columbus became a city. That was in 1833.

In the 17 years of the life of the municipality as a borough six other men held the office and wore the big silver star of the village marshal, viz James Fisher, William Richardson, Samuel Shannon, Benjamin Sells, John Kelley and George B. Harvey. Several of them served several different terms, apparently there was a succession in the marshal's office as often as there was a change in the mayor's office and politics and pull seem to have prevailed at the beginning even as now.

OUR BED-TIME STORY

FOR TINY TIMES-DEMOCRAT FOLKS

It was raining when Jack and Jane and their new friend Jeanne came out of the house, so Captain Brave decided to stay over another day. Jane will never forget the good time she had playing house with Jeanne. For although Jeanne's own toys were gone, she had found dishes and things, and the soldiers had all made a little pet of her and had given her toys they made.

Jack had a good time too, for of course Captain Brave spent his time with the soldiers and Jack went along with him.

The more Booh thought about having to have a strap and collar attached to him all the time, the more angry he became. If ever you have seen a little dog mad enough to bite nails, you will understand why Booh started to bite his strap, and he kept on biting it until he chewed it through. There was just a short end of it hanging to his collar. Being free to run as he pleased again Booh forgot his bringing up and decided to run away, although of course he considered it just a sight-seeing trip.

So he started down the street. Like most anybody with a guilty conscience he didn't hold his head very high until he was out of sight of the house. Then a thousand and one things that would interest a little puppy lured him on from corner to corner. He trotted through the dust and made friends with all the French dogs he met. In fact he was having a great romp with one of them when a terrible accident happened.

Booh dashed around a corner in the street with one of his new found friends at his heels. The street he came into was being paved as it had been torn up by great shells during the war. If you have ever seen men paving a street you know that they make big puddles of water in it at first to settle the dirt.

That is the way this street was—one big puddle after another. When Booh came around the corner he saw the puddles too late and landed in one of them. It looked just as if someone had thrown a big piece of cotton wadding into an ink bottle, and when Booh scrambled out he was the dirtiest looking dog in the world. The only things white about him were his teeth. When he shook himself the mud flew in all directions. The cold water, though, cooled his desire to see the world alone and awoke his conscience again. He decided he had better start back. He was rather doubtful, too, about the reception he would get, being covered with mud that way.

So it was just about the time Jack and Jane and the other folks were going to start out to hunt for him he trotted slowly around a building and came in sight. If he hadn't looked so disgusted and repentant he might have been accosted. As it was everybody laughed, which really hurt Booh's feelings as much as a scolding would have done, and then Booh was given a thorough bath and told to sit on a chair.

Booh wouldn't have cared if Captain Brave had made him wear a collar and strap after this, but Captain Brave decided that this lesson would be enough and that Booh would stay pretty close to home without a strap so Booh got rid of his collar.

INNER CIRCLE.

Ralph P. Mackenzie presided at the meeting of the Inner Circle when on Wednesday evening they had dinner at the Shawnee Country club. It was a splendid meeting, there being a record attendance, when places were laid for thirty-three.

Captain Emmett J. Jackson had the principal address of the evening when he talked on the "American Boy as a Soldier." Captain Jackson said that while the war was on the American boy, realizing the situation, was all soldier, but upon the signing of the armistice, immediately lost interest, and was just the plain American boy, anxious to get home.

The luxury tax was discussed by Ross Peppie, who held forth that it was just, because it was levied upon people able to pay it. Stewart Green had as his topic, "Our New Attitude Toward Mexico," which was very well prepared and well put forth. Harry Strausburg had as his topic, "The Farm Labor Question," while William Mackenzie had a talk on "Honesty." Both subjects were well developed.

Those present were: Stanley Latner, Douglas Andrews, Ralph P. Mackenzie, Francis Clark, Harry Branson, Basil Monroe, William Mackenzie, Fred Aab, Ross Peppie, Fred Simpson, Warren Basinger, William R. Foulkes, Arthur Bryan, Carl Isam, L. R. Moore, Calvin F. Selfridge, Don John, William Snyder, O. Brice Selfridge, Vern Pugsley, Harry Strausburg, Don Maus, Stewart Green, Emmett J. Jackson, Rodney Clark, Serge Fockler, Harold King, David N. Feiser, Lyle Parmenter, Neil Parmenter, Fred Agarter, W. L. Allaire and Wallace Hooper.

July 16 is the date set for the next meeting of the Inner Circle when they will again meet at the Country club.

FIVE O'CLOCK TEA.

Tea was the form of entertainment which Mrs. S. E. Booth, of North McDonald street, took as a means of complimenting her house guests, Mrs. A. Whiting, of Mansfield, and Mrs. E. B. Brewer, of Cleveland.

A cleverly arranged basket of pink blossoms centered the table while pink streamers led to each corner of the prettily appointed table. Following the tea, guests remained on into the evening and enjoyed an informal evening of social chat.

Guests were Mrs. Whiting, Mrs. Brewer, Mrs. Eugene Lippincott, Mrs. R. D. Kahle, Mrs. B. A. Gramm, Mrs. W. B. Kirk, Mrs. H. M. Crawford and Mrs. D. J. Cable.

Miss Betty, and Miss Katherine Moulton, of West Market Street, have gone to Camp Oneka, in Pennsylvania, where they will remain until the first of September.

Zion Lutheran Aid.

Members of Zion Lutheran Aid Society, to the number of thirty, met in the basement of the church, on Wednesday afternoon, and enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon. After the business meeting, which was brief, the guests amused themselves for the remainder of the time. At four o'clock the hostess, Mrs. G. Bauman served delicious tea.

The next meeting will be held the first Wednesday in August, in the basement of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Collier, and daughter, Leona, of North Baxter St. will spend the Fourth of July, as the guests of relatives in Detroit.

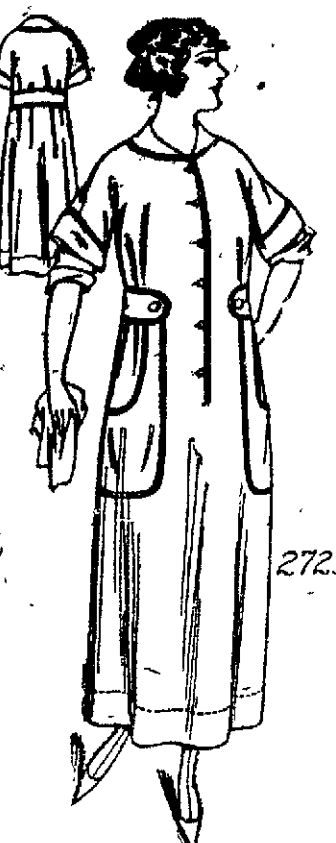

Mrs. Louis Fall, of West Spring Street, has as her guest, her niece, Miss Henrietta Faist, of St. Louis, Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Gooding, of West Market Street, have as their guests for several weeks, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Helen De Grief, of Lafayette, Indiana.

Miss Oread Weatherall, formerly of this city, now with the Y. W. C. A. of Milwaukee, Minn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. B. F. McKinnon, of Ohio street.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Sayers and daughter, Dorcas, of North Charles street, will leave on Friday for New York and Niagara Falls. The trip will be made by motor.

Members of the Mercy Circle Kings Daughters, feasted on Wednesday evening, when they entertained with their annual picnic, this year held at McBeth's Park. The husbands and families are entertained at this time, and a more enjoyable picnic has never been featured. Aside from a most delightful picnic, the evening was marvellously cool, and the guests danced following the supper.

The third Wednesday in July, Mrs. C. E. Schell, of South Pierce Street, will entertain the members at an all day outing at her summer home in Russell Point.

Mrs. Harry Wright, of West Market Street, has as her guests, Miss Josephine and Miss Dorothy West, who will remain for a fortnight, and will then continue their journey westward. They are enroute from their home in Philadelphia, to visit relatives in Kansas.

Mrs. William McGuire, of New York City, and Mrs. Harry Jenks, of London, formerly Miss Martha Agarter, of this city, have arrived to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Holdridge, of West Market Street. Mrs. McGuire is a daughter of the Holdridges.

Mrs. Frank Haller, and her mother, Mrs. A. L. Fisher will leave shortly for their summer home, at Oden, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace King, of Shawnee, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gooding, of West Market Street, leave on Friday, for Columbus, where they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Altmeier, of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carter, of West Market Street, are taking a merry crowd of girls to Cedar Point, for the holiday, included in the party are, Miss Margaret Cooper, their house guest, Miss Esther Kriete, Miss Marion Cable, Miss Janet White and Miss Sara Laughlin.

FLOWER FESTIVAL.

The flower Festival of the Y. W. C. A. was a huge success from every point of view. The decorations were beautiful, and dainty, as only Mrs. Clem S. Baxter could make them, while Miss Gail Parmenter was in charge of the program. Miss Dorothy Collins sang "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," "Baby," and "Song of Spring"; Mrs. Winona Vinson Forrer, read; there were reports from the industrial conference at Oxford, by the delegates, Miss Ethel Minsky, Miss Minerva Peppie, Miss Frances Vogle and Miss Marie Rothrock; Miss Merle Thompson sang "Sonnet D'Amour" and "Cradle Song" while Miss Katherine Gramm played two very pretty piano solos: "Liebes-traum," and "The Bee". Miss Isabelle Loeschner, Miss Veldren Smith, Miss Minerva Peppie, Miss Frances Vogle and Miss Charlotte Baer, entertained with the Rosemunde Dance all garbed in dainty costumes of Grecian cut.

Miss Nellie nook was in charge of refreshments, and furnished delicious food at the conclusion of the program.

LUNCHEON.

Mrs. E. A. Williams, of South Cole Street, entertained charmingly with luncheon on Wednesday at the Shawnee Country Club, in honor of her house guests, Mrs. George MacMullen, her mother, and Miss Georgina MacMullen, of New York City, her sister. The luncheon was a very pleasant function, the delightful hostess presiding so prettily.

Pink roses formed the decorations of the table, while the greenery of the blooms was worked in beautifully and artistically with the dainty nut baskets, while place cards, were water colored in pink and green.

Mrs. Williams' party was marked by the number of out-of-town guests in attendance. There were her own mother and sister; there City, William McGuire, of New York City, and Mrs. Harry Jenks, of London, England, guests of the Holdridges; Mrs.

Now is the time for all summer girls to wear linen suits. Although these suits are not as fashionable as they have been in former years, yet they are ideal for traveling and for wear when the occasion demands some kind of a suit. Nothing could have been more attractive than one blue linen suit in a medium shade. It was without trimming, yet the fashionable cut of the bloused jacket, the long revers which reached to waist, and the belt of heavy white braid hanging in loops made a costume that is distinctive. The skirt was perfectly plain.

Another clever costume was of white linen, combined with the same material in navy blue. The skirt was of white with a broad band of navy blue around the bottom. The coat was of blue with long revers of white which crossed in the front and buttoned at the waist line. Another suit was of green linen made on tailored lines. Like the wool costumes, it had a vestee, this one of white linen with strips of green across it.

TRIUMPH EUCHE CLUB.

Mrs. M. E. Frawley, of West McKibben Street, opened her home on Wednesday afternoon to the members of the Triumph Euche Club, when she had six tables of progressive euche. Mrs. Maurice Foley won the club prize and Mrs. Lawrence Connell, and Mrs. Dan Dimond, were presented with dainty gifts, the guest prizes.

Guests other than members present were, Mrs. Tom Shanahan, Mrs. W. E. Kelley, Mrs. Vincent Connolly, Mrs. A. E. Frawley, Mrs. A. K. Fitz, Mrs. William Joy, Mrs. Dan Dimond, Mrs. Pete Stein, Mrs. Mary Mulcahey, Mrs. Mary Daley, Mrs. Lawrence Connell, Mrs. Charles Mathias and Miss Jeanette Kemper.

A Chance to Live

(By Zoe Beckley)

AN AWAKENING

"Fred" took a firmer grip on her arm and hurrying to the others announced "Little Killjoy's all right now; she's going to stick to Fred. Come on, let's have another sip of 'suds.' Home'll take care of itself." Annie was really terrified. Affecting to be jolly, laughing with the rest, she waited her chance and when they turned into a cafe and "Fred" let go her arm for a moment, she got behind a pair of pleasure hunters who were too leaden footed to get out of their way, flew around a corner and hid herself from the crowd.

Somehow she worked back along the garish street, hurrying across the open spaces, worming through the denser crowd, till she saw at last the comforting blue of a policeman's uniform, and asked about cars. Just ahead there, turn to the left—and she could take the "L" for a dime or the surface for a nickel, transferring at something-or-other street.

It was half-past one when Annie got home. Her mother was walking the floor with distraction. But she was tearful and peevish, rather than angry, and so relieved at the return that she didn't scold as Annie feared. Though she rarely confided in her mother, Annie told of the Coney Island trip. She did not mention the episode at Settlement House. She could not have told that to any one.

For the rest of the night she lay awake, staring at her narrow strip of stars and trying to solve the old eternal problem of how to get her head above the ruck of things.

She was through with Settlement House. She was through with the cheap, coarse pleasures of her poor little pleasure-hungry factory friends. The only way out of her unrelieved round of toil was through more toil, she concluded. The only escape from the factory was to redouble her efforts at night school. No matter if it took her last ounce of nervous energy she would use it gamely with her health and strength, and play to win. She must live in the future, not the present.

It was about time that Annie learned through an experience of her beloved Aunt Moggie a hard and cruel truth. Aunt Moggie suddenly moved from the boarding house where she had lived so long—the room with the desk and typewriter that Annie had so loved to visit as a child—and took a cheaper lodging. Annie finally dragged the reason from her. The concert that employed Margaret Bally changed

Stockingless, She Strolls in the Bois de Boulogne

During the war Paris fashion designers lost some of their hold on the American public. Our fashion editor tells us that she and the rest of the American women will not accept the sleeveless blouse or gown and wear short sleeves. She refused to commit the American public on the question of whether women will go stockingless. She says she will wear stockings, however, much they cost. This photograph shows a bare-legged model for a Paris designer displaying one of his latest gowns in the Bois de Boulogne.

Joe Cable, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Cable, of Springdale farm, is now in Toledo, and upon his return will leave Sunday for Cornell to finish his course and will graduate the last of August. He will then go to Oklahoma, where he has an excellent position with an oil business.

Ralph P. Mackenzie, of West Market street, will leave for Cincinnati and will spend the Fourth and the remainder of the week, as the guest of friends in that city. While there Mr. Mackenzie will be the honor guest at several elaborate functions.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Lotzoff and family, of West Grand avenue, are entertaining Mr. Lotzoff's sister, Mrs. S. Goodman, and children, Jeanette and Charles, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Frank A. Boone, of West Market street, has as her guest, Mrs. Mary Ferrall, her niece, of Bucyrus.

LEMON JUICE

FOR FRECKLES

Girls! Make beauty lotion for a few cents—Try it!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Kolter, and Dr. and Mrs. Wagner, of West Market Street, will motor to Cedar Point, on Friday, where they will spend the Fourth.

Dr. and Mrs. D. T. McGriff, of West Circular street, have as their guest Miss Irene Eble, of Anderson, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. William Simpson, of State street, have gone to Erie, Pa., where they will be the guests of Mrs. H. C. Simpson.

Mrs. Forster Robinson and son, Robert, of South Jackson avenue, have gone to Chautauqua Lake, N. Y., where they expect to remain until August 1.

Miss Mae Hensler, Miss Esther Diehl and Miss Lucille Burkhardt left on Wednesday for New York where they will take a summer normal course at Columbia university.

Miss Mary Ormand, whose home is in Toledo, is a guest at the home of Clara Schirmer, of the Findlay road.

TODAY—"The Last Days of Pompeii," by Bulwer-Lytton.
SATURDAY—"Sir Nigel," by Arthur Conan Doyle.

BULWER-LYTTON

Edward George Earle Lytton Bulwer, more familiarly known to novel readers as Bulwer-Lytton, was born in London, May 25, 1803. He was more of a prodigy in his youth and had a much more public career than most men who have achieved fame as novelists. At the age of 15, he distinguished himself by publishing a volume of poems and by failing so violently in love that he became highly morbid when his proposal of marriage was not taken seriously by the father of the girl he loved. She died a few years later and Bulwer said that the disappointment embittered his whole life. At Cambridge he won a medal for the excellence of a poem and published another book of verse.

In 1827, he had sufficiently recovered from his premature love affair to marry, against his mother's wishes, a brilliant beauty of society.

It was doomed from the outset to be unhappy, for both Bulwer and his wife were too unrestrained to live together. They quarrelled, were legally separated and continued to quarrel in print for years.

Bulwer was rapidly winning renown. His first novels were successful but it was not until "The Last Days of Pompeii" (1834) that his fame was assured. Nine years later appeared "The Last of the Barons," which many good judges have considered his best work. He wrote numerous other stories, novels of society, of crime, of mysteries, of family life. He was the most successful dramatist of his time. He dabbled in journalism. For ten years he was a member of parliament, was later secretary for the colonies, and in 1866 was raised to the peerage as Baron Lytton. He died on January 18, 1873.

THE LAST DAYS OF POMPEII

By EDWARD BULWER-LYTTON

Condensation by Prof. William Fenwick Harris of Cambridge, Mass.

"Glaucus the Athenian, thy time has come," said a loud and clear voice; "the lion awaits thee."

"I am ready," said the Athenian. He had bent his limbs so as to give himself the firmest posture at the expected rush of the lion, with his small and shining weapon raised on high, in the faint hope that one well-directed thrust might penetrate through the eye to the brain of his grim foe.

"But to the unutterable astonishment of all, the beast seemed not even aware of the presence of the criminal. At the first moment of its release it halted abruptly in the arena, raised itself half on end, snuffing the upward air with impatient sighs; then suddenly it sprang forward, but not on the Athenian. At half-speed it circled round and round the space, turning its vast head from side to side with an anxious and perturbed gaze, as if seeking only some avenue of escape; once or twice it endeavored to leap up the parapet that divided it from the audience, and, on failing, uttered rather a baffled howl than its deep-toned and kingly roar. It evinced no sign of wrath or hunger; its tail drooped along the sand, instead of lashing its wanton sides; and its eye, though it wandered at times to Glaucus, rolled again listlessly from him. At length, as if tired of attempting to escape, it crept with a moan into its cage, and once more laid itself down to rest.

"The first surprise of the assembly at the apathy of the lion soon grew into resentment at its cowardice; and the populace already merged their pity for the fate of Glaucus into angry compassion for their own disappointment. The manager called to the keeper:

"How is this! Take a good, quick him forth, and then close the door of the den."

"As the keeper, with some fear, but more astonishment, was preparing to obey, a loud cry was heard at one of the entrances of the arena; there was a confusion, a battle, voices of remonstrance suddenly breaking forth, and suddenly silenced at the reply. All eyes turned in wonder towards the quarter of the disturbance; the crowd gave way, and suddenly Sallust appeared on the senatorial benches, his hair disheveled, breathless, heated, half exhausted. He cast his eyes hastily around the ring. "Remove the Athenian," he cried; "haste, he is innocent! Arrest Arbaces the Egyptian! HE is the murderer of Apollonides!"

"Art thou mad, O Sallust!" said the praetor, rising from his seat. "What means this raving?"

"Remove the Athenian! Quick! or his blood be on your own head. Praetor, delay, and you answer with your own life to the emperor! I bring with me the eye-witness to the death of the priest Apollonides. Room there! stand back! Give way! People of Pompeii, fix every eye upon Arbaces; there he sits! Room there for the priest Calenus!"

"Pale, haggard, fresh from the jaws of famine and of death, his face fallen, his eyes dull as a vulture's, his broad frame gaunt as a skeleton, Calenus was supported into the very row in which Arbaces sat. His release had given him a spasm of food; but the chief sustenance that nerved his feeble limbs was revenge."

"The priest Calenus! Calenus! cried the mob. Is it he? No, it is a dead man!"

"It is the priest Calenus," said the praetor, gravely. "What hast thou to say?"

"Arbaces of Egypt is the murderer of Apollonides, the priest of Isis, these eyes saw him deal the blow. It is from the dungeon into which he plunged me, it is from the darkness and horror of a death by famine, that the gods have raised me to proclaim his crime! Release the Athenian—he is innocent!"

"It is for this, then, that the lion spared him. A miracle! a miracle!" cried Pansa.

"A miracle! a miracle!" shouted the people; "remove the Athenian! Arbaces to the lion!"

"The power of the praetor was as a need beneath the whirlwind; still, at his word the guards had drawn themselves along the lower benches, on which the upper classes sat separate from the vulgar. They made but a feeble barrier; the waves of the human sea halted for a moment, to enable Arbaces to count the exact moment of his doom! In despair, and in a terror which beat down even pride, he glanced his eyes over the rolling and rushing crowd, when, right above them, through the wide chasm which had been left in the valaria, he beheld a strange and awful apparition; he beheld, and his craft restored his courage!

"He stretched his hands on high; over his lofty brow and royal features there came an expression of unutterable solemnity and command. "Behold!" he shouted, with a voice of thunder which stilled the roar of the crowd; "behold how the gods protect the guiltless! The fires of the avenging Orcus burst forth against the false witness of my accusers!"

The fires of the "avenging Orcus" were those of the great eruption of Vesuvius in 79 A. D. Toward such a melodramatic climax, furnished him by Nature, the author had been spinning the lives of his characters in the little city which nestled under the shadow of the volcano.

than era. The story centers around Glaucus the Athenian, brilliant, gay, witty descendant of a nobler race frivolling himself away amid the coarser pleasures of the Romans, until finally all that was fine in him was brought forth by his love for one of Naples, who like himself was a child of Greece. And alongside this tale of love runs the pathetic story of Nydia, the blind slave girl, who centers all her hopes of happiness in winning the affection of Glaucus. To this end she gains possession of a love potion which the opulent Julia has had prepared in the belief that it will bring to her the much-desired Glaucus. In reality, the potion is a poison which will drive the unfortunate drinker mad. It is designed by the minister Egyptian Arbaces to clear his path to lone from his rival Glaucus. In his raving, Glaucus comes upon Arbaces just as the latter has killed one of his brother Apollonides, a young priest of Isis, who, much to the annoyance of Arbaces, has embraced the new Christian faith. Arbaces throws the guilt upon poor Glaucus with apparent success. But the priest Calenus was a hidden witness, with the final result shown in the great episode of the book. As the crowd in the circus turned their eyes toward Vesuvius, they beheld a fire that shifted and wavered in its hues with every moment, now fiercely luminous, now of a dull and dying red, that again blazed terrifically forth with intolerable glare. Then there arose on high the universal shrieks of women; the men stared at each other, but were dumb. At that moment they felt the earth shake beneath their feet; the walls of the theatre trembled, and beyond in the distance they heard the crash of falling roofs: an instant more and the mountain-cloud seemed to roll towards them, dark and rapid, like a torrent; at the same time it cast forth from its bosom a shower of ashes mixed with vast fragments of burning stone! Over the crushing vines, over the desolate streets, over the amphitheatre itself, splash and wide, with many a mighty splash in the agitated sea, fell that awful shower! No longer thought the crowd of justice or of Arbaces; safely for themselves was their sole thought. Each turned to fly—each dashing, pressing, crushing, against the other.

It was save himself who could in that night of horrors. Of the many episodes seen in the flashes of light was that of blind Nydia guiding Glaucus to lone, and then leading both to safety, she the only one at home in the darkness in which she had always lived. And then, when they had gained a ship and put to sea and all but Nydia had fallen into exhausted slumber, "May the gods bless you, Athenian!" she murmured, "may you be happy with your beloved one; may you sometimes remember Nydia!"

A sailor, half dozing on the deck, heard a slight splash on the waters. Drowsily he looked up, and, believing, as the vessel merrily bounded on, he fancied, he saw something white above the waves.

AMUSEMENTS

FAUROT—"THE ROARING ROAD."
 "Toodles" Waldron, an Auto Salesman, Wallace Reid, The Club, his Sweetheart, Ann Little, J. D. Ward, Theodore Roberts, Tom Darby, Guy Oliver, Wheeler, C. H. Geldart. Several of the Byron Morgan stories, appearing recently in the Saturday Evening Post, have been incorporated into one and furnish the basis for a Wallace Reid-Paramount screen vehicle.

The combination of the tales makes an interesting, clean, wholesome, suspenseful-interest picture story, but it is not a stellar vehicle for Wallace Reid, who is utterly eclipsed by Theodore Roberts in the role of "The Bear," the character around which the Morgan stories were written. This is no reflection upon Reid's talents, which he utilizes neatly and acceptably in "The Roaring Road" as "Toodles," but "The Bear" is a character role, and when handled by one of the greatest living character actors—if not the greatest—the result was inevitable, viz, he walked away with the show.

To those unfamiliar with the Morgan stories, J. D. Ward ("The Bear") is a gruff old president of an automobile manufacturing concern and "Toodles" Waldron is one of his salesmen, with two hobbies—one to marry Ward's daughter and the other to drive a racing car. Ward and "Toodles" are constantly at loggerheads, and although "Toodles" occasionally puts it over the old man, Ward is generally more than a match for the youngster. The finish of "The Roaring Road" is a race between an auto and a train from Los Angeles to Frisco, in which are shown some remarkable bits of photography. The picture is first rate comedy with a lot of corking thrills. It will please any picture audience.

Will interpret fight rules to govern big contest in Toledo Today.

TIMES SPORTING SECTION

Willard will have to fight hard to beat Utah wonder.

Jess Willard Looks Good, But Not Good Enough to Make Great Fight In Defense of His World's Championship Belt

(By James F. Burba.)

Never was the quotation: "Un- easy lies the head that wears the crown," more truthfully spoken than it is today, insofar as a certain Mr. Jess Willard, erstwhile cowboy, circus performer and now, champion heavyweight battler of the world, is concerned.

Despite the fact that press agents, and sport writers who favor the large lad, give out the dope that Willard is not the least bit uneasy, indications are he will lie himself down upon his downy couch this night, wondering if when he seeks the arms of Morpheus twenty-four hours later, he will yet wear the crown, which he has been so long in defending.

When that lad first started training for this battle, he announced, he was less worried over the outcome than any previous contest he has ever been engaged in. However, in recent days, he has kept his trap closed and is overworking a blame sight harder to condition himself than when he fought either Johnson or Moran.

That Willard is a good man, there is little doubt. Probably never in the history of the heavy ring has there been a champion who has lived as clean a life as the cowboy. However, a sage of yore olden times once said: "Youth buries old age," and that is just exactly what Willard is afraid of. Another thing, have you taken into consideration Willard has not donned a pair of mits for a real battle in a little more than three years?

Getting Heavy on Feet

These and other things count up. I had the opportunity of seeing the champ work shortly after he had whipped Johnson in Havana. He was a bear in those days. Big as a house, strong as an ox, and when it came to speed, well, an antelope didn't have a lot on him. His every move was a picture. Toe work, say lad, he was out there on that. That reminds me—sports and fighters who have followed the game will tell you the best way to judge whether or not a fighter is getting along in years is to watch his foot work. When he is young and full of jazz, everything is done on the toes, but when Father Time is beginning to watch him close, he comes down to the flaths of his dogs. Have you seen Willard recently? Well, he is working flat-footed. True, maybe not to any great and notable extent, but nevertheless he is, and what that means, you be the judge.

The Cowboy is in wonderful condition, physical examiners and other tell us. He does look good, but not good enough to make a great defense for the crown tomorrow. To crush this lithe-limbed, husky, terrible-hitting, man-lion from Utah, I firmly believe Willard will be forced to fight a great fight, yes, the greatest fight of his ring career.

If the champion does fight a great fight, and whips this lad Dempsey, then I will agree with many others, that Willard is super-man. He will not have One Round Davis, Dan Daily

Tom McMahon or Gunboat Smith in front of him tomorrow, and when he was at his best he had to go home to whip Davis, Daily and McMahon, and he couldn't whip Smith.

Outwardly, Looks Good

Outwardly, Willard looks good, probably as good as they tell us he is, but really he doesn't impress one as being an ideal athlete ready for a grueling battle. He is not the fat, flabby Willard he was a pair of years ago when he was travelling with his circus. No, he looks fifty per cent better, but I believe the giant has dieted himself from a fat, overfed man to a reasonable gaunt man-mountain.

Willard did not take off the surplus weight by hard training. He lost most of it by being careful in selecting food, but he did not deny himself the best. A man may diet until he looks trim and in good shape, but to be in good shape one must train, heart and soul, as Dempsey has done.

Speaking of Willard's fat, not so many years ago, I had the opportunity of interviewing the late John L. Sullivan, an idol of the fans. It was shortly after Johnson had whipped Jeffries. I asked Sullivan what he thought about the battle, and he, in his Irish brogue told me he had seen Jeffries train, and informed him that he was not getting himself into physical condition. True, Sullivan said, Jeff was getting the fat off the outside, but not from the inside. That, I firmly believe, is the trouble with Willard.

Now comes the argument regarding how Willard stands up and all, lowa Monaghan to hit him. Maybe, he does, but it's a different story between Monaghan hitting a man and young Jack Dempsey swinging on one. Can Dempsey hit hard? On boy! Take his past record, and from the number of mills he finished in the first round it will be the easiest thing in the world to see, that he carries a kick in his arms, like the business end of a mule.

Willard is Confident

You didn't know Willard a half dozen years ago, when he was really a wonderful fighting machine, and you looked him over now, you'd, no doubt, conclude he is in tiptop condition, for he does look good, but I still contend not good enough to whip Dempsey.

The health of the big boy is good. He is arrogantly confident and no doubt, he feels and thinks himself as good as he was when he handed Jack Johnson the sleep portion, but there is that invisible something, that semi-hidden cloud of old age creeping over him. It's certainly there, and try as he may and does, he cannot hide it.

He lacks the youthful snap, characteristic of the Willard of bygone days. He appears, for all the world, like a man who has achieved a huge aim in life, and being supplied with world goods, to his entire satisfaction, has decided to lean back and say: "well boys, if you want to get me, come ahead and do it, if you can—I don't care.

One more thing about the champ, hear what Battling Levinsky has to say about him:

"For a man who has been out of the ring as long as Willard has, I don't think he is going about getting into shape in the right way. His legs are noticeably bad. Road work was the only thing that would benefit him in that direction and also did him in his wind, which I noticed, after two rounds of boxing with Hample, is very bad. He is a big powerful fellow, though, and maybe his strength will carry him through twelve rounds. It's a big chance he's taking. Besides that, he's not getting the kind of boxing he should. I saw Monaghan hit him, and if he can do it, I am sure Dempsey can, and hit harder too.

Willard is fast enough with his left hand, but slower with his right, and just how hard he can wallop with his left, I don't know. Maybe hard enough to knock over Dempsey, but that remains to be seen."

Dempsey Impresses

Fans are wondering whether or not Dempsey is confident of his victory. True enough, Jack has not shouted much, but it's not what he says, rather what he does that impresses one with his supreme confidence in his ability to turn the trick when he tackles Willard.

After seeing the contender, the first thing that impresses the spectator is Dempsey's utter lack of irritability. As a general rule when a scrapper is preparing for a contest of this kind, his nerves are on an edge, but Dempsey when asked questions, particularly sport writers, he displays no nerves, but answers them to the best of his ability and chats freely concerning current events.

The question of what kind of warfare he is going to wage against the champion tomorrow was asked Dempsey, and he replied:

"I'll fight the only way I know how, and that way is to fight my man. I'm not going into the ring to do any marathoning, or to stand off and look at dear old Jess. I mean to drop him in the quickest time possible. The only way I can accomplish that is to get in close and paste him with all I've got—and keep on pasting him until he goes to sleep. He may think he's going to hold me off. So did Fulton and so did Morris. Fulton thought he could do it with his long jabber—but he didn't. Morris thought he could clinch and rough it with me. He didn't. At all events, you may bet Willard will not head me off."

Challenger is Aggressive

Dempsey is naturally aggressive; a cyclonic performer, who, with all his power, huris himself at his opponent, and fights, fights, fights until the little blue birds are merrily singing over the prostrate form. He has always triumphed with his speed, contending that his best attack and defense lies in his swiftness.

It was with this that he vanquished Morris, Fulton, Smith, Pelky—all of 'em. The Utah wonder is of the opinion that just such an attack will put the quietus on the big title holder.

There is hardly a fight fan in Lima, but who does not favor Dempsey. While the majority of them are impressed with the huge bulk of Willard, and while they are not really anxious to place any local change on the contender, they are rubbing a rabbit's foot that he may win. Willard has never been any more popular in this city than he has in any other one, and you know that's not much.

Everyday in Lima, you find fans who say: "Well, I don't know, really I can't see how Dempsey can whip the big man, but I am sincerely hoping he will." Willard has, without a doubt, been the most unpopular champion in the ring. Why, old Marvin Hart, of Louisville, Kentucky, to whom Jim Jeffries gave the title, had more nerve in one minute than this bird, Willard, has in ten years. Hart did fight one good battle before he lost the belt to Burns. Hart, at least, was willing.

Well, anyway, this time tomorrow, we will know more about the battle, and Willard, even though he be not champion will be richer by one hundred thousand iron men. The foregoing is my dope. Your head is as good as mine, figure it for yourself.

RULES GOVERNING BIG FIGHT TO BE INTERPRETED TODAY

Willard Makes Suggestions—Dempsey Doesn't Care How Rules Are Interpreted.

TOLEDO, O., July 3.—Rules governing the heavyweight championship contest between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey in Tex Rickard's $150,000 arena here tomorrow are to be officially interpreted at a meeting today attended by Ollie Pecord, the referee; Rickard and Major A. J. Drexel Biddle, judges of the contest, the boxers themselves, and Jack Kearns, manager of the challenger.

Previous to the meeting, Willard expressed himself as being willing to box under ordinary rules, but suggested that the contestants be permitted to box as long as an arm is free, to break at once at the command of the referee and to break clean. Rickard said he understood that straight Marquis and Queensberry rules were to apply, the boxers to take care of themselves at all times.

Kearns who spoke for Dempsey said he intended to press the point that the judges should not sit together, but on opposite sides of the ring. He also said that he did not care how the rules were interpreted so long as each boxer and the referee agreed on what was to be exacted.

The only blow that probably will be barred will be the kidney punch, which, under the rules of the Toledo boxing commission is prohibition in all matches staged in the city. As Pecord is the official referee of the commission, and tomorrow's contest will be staged under license granted by the commission, the punch undoubtedly will be barred. No provision is made, however, for the rabbit punch, which Willard's admirers say, is a favorite blow with the champion. The blow is delivered on the back of an opponent's neck and Willard, as well as Dempsey, used it with punishing effect in their training romps. The punch, it was indicated, would be allowed, so long as the boxer using it did not hold his opponent with one arm.

Rickard said that it was likely that the boxers would agree to tape their hands in their dressing rooms at the arena and in the presence of a representative from the rival camps. Willard previously had said that he desired to have Dempsey and himself come into the ring with bare hands and to adjust the cotton bandages and a thin layer of surgical tape while in the ring. To do this, however, Rickard said, would cause unnecessary delay.

was not much more than $10,000 in actual stakes in the hands of the various betting concerns. He explained this situation upon the theory that while the adherents of the two heavyweights were sharply divided in their opinion of the result each contingent had too much respect for the fistic ability of the rival contender to lay heavily on the chances of their own favorite.

In some quarters sentiment appeared to be veering toward the champion for while Dempsey backers were offering even money on the challenger a day or two ago, they are now asking that Willard may lay 10 to 8. Even when these odds are granted the switch does not result in any large sums being turned over to the stake-holders. At the leading commissioners' quarters the blackboards are filled with various betting propositions which have remained untaken, with the exception of a few freak bets, for several days. Some of these include $100 to $1,000 that Willard does not last three rounds $100 to $500 that Willard does not respond to the call for the seventh round. In the pari-mutuel betting the heaviest play is being made on the seventh and eighth rounds while Dempsey is almost a two to one favorite, according to the number of tickets sold, on the result should the bout go the full 12 rounds.

Every train arriving in Toledo is unloading its scores and hundreds of boxing fans are making the trip here in motor cars. Once they arrive, a small percentage of them go directly to hotels, add claim rooms for which they made reservations a month ago and which they are privileged to occupy at the rate of $5 a bed with two to ten beds in a room. The others walk around the streets in frenzied search for accommodations, which are not to be found.

Every hotel, every rooming house, bath house and other similar establishments "are sold out" for tonight. The thousands of visitors who will be unable to obtain hotel accommodations will sleep on cots in several buildings which have been turned into huge dormitories. The minimum charge for a cot in a vacant building will be $5. Hundreds of motor parties brought tents with them and pitched them along the roads on the outskirts of the city. Hundreds of others plan to spend tonight in Cleveland, Columbus, Detroit and other cities within a radius of 100 miles and make the trip to Toledo early tomorrow.

There probably is more confusion, more noise and more arguments in Toledo today than in any other place in the world. Where

PEACE IS PROCLAIMED

LONDON, July 3.—

With quaint ceremonial suggestive of medieval times, the King's proclamation that peace has been signed will be read today at five points in London—St. James palace, Trafalgar Square, Temple Bar, Cheapside and the Royal Exchange.

MANY GOOD RIDERS WILL PERFORM HERE TOMORROW

While fight fans in Toledo are enjoying themselves with their particular brand of sport tomorrow, local motorcycle enthusiasts will be obtaining their share of excitement at the Lima driving park, where some of the most spectacular cycle races in the history of the city will take place.

From all parts of the country have been secured riders, who each time they mount their respective machines take their life in hand, and trust to luck to carry them through the race. Indications are today that many new records will be made at the park tomorrow, for great is the rivalry being displayed between the riders who have arrived in Lima.

There will be five events, each a wonderful affair within itself. The main event of the afternoon will be the 25-mile race. Already seven riders have entered their names as contenders in this contest. Probably the best known of these is Don Marks, of Akron, who rides an Indian machine.

Marks has raced in Lima before, and is well known to local lovers of the speed contests. Besides him are entered Paul Williams, of Springfield, who drives a Harley-Davidson; C. L. Shaffer, Muncie, Ind., Excelsior; Raymond Braden, Bellefontaine, Indian; Dust Mankert, Lorain, Ohio, Indian; Floyd Drier, Youngstown, Indian, and Charles Sadduth, Akron, Thor.

Other than the 25-mile event, what will in all probability prove of most interest to localities is the three-mile side-car contest. This will be participated in by local riders, and great excitement is promised. Besides these there are one 10-mile, and three 5-mile races.

The first event will be staged promptly at 2:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. It is estimated the program will last about three and one-half hours. At a great expense a leased wire from Toledo has been secured, and returns round by round will be given the patrons.

TORRID CONTEST EXPECTED HERE INDEPENDENCE DAY

Just about a month ago, there came to Lima, from Chicago, a ball club which bore the name Keystone and handed the local aggregation a drubbing. Two weeks later, this said team journeyed to our fair city, and this time they were amply repaid for the first contest, for when the locals got through with them, the visitors threw up the sponge "enough."

Now, tomorrow, this self-same aggregation will arrive in Lima, and tomorrow afternoon they will play the rubber at old Murphy street ball yard. It is more than needless to remark this game will be torrid affair as has ever been staged in Lima. The gang from the windy city are due to arrive here loaded for bear.

It is understood they have secured the semi-professional lots of Chicago for material, and that they have secured the best money could obtain, so great is their desire to hand the Lima bunch a whipping. However, that does not worry a one Mr. Halloran, who has the interest of "Our Boys" at heart, and he has informed us he will be just as ready to receive the Chicago aggregation as it is to arrive.

With the visitors will come Catcher Hanley. This lad is, without a doubt, one of the best receivers this side of the majors, and it is more than likely he will be in fast company before many more seasons roll over his head. It is rumored in local circles that the Lima management is making endeavors to secure this lad.

Callahan, flinger of repute, will in all probability work for the visitors. Besides being a twirler of class, this lad is another Babe Ruth with the stick. In the last game here, Pierce allowed the Keystone only two safeties, and Callahan secured one of these.

Lyons who has a record in Chicago baseball circles for pilfering the bases will perform with the Keystone tomorrow. He is very capable when it comes to holding down the Keystone station, too.

Pierce will be seen on the mound for the local sin tomorrow's struggle. This lad is going better each game, and greater things are expected of him against the Chicago gang. Herring, former member of the local aggregation, and a favorite with Lima fans, will be seen in an Independent Uniform tomorrow. Word has just been received from that clever receiver that he will be able to perform with "Our Boys" on the morrow.

Herring is at present situated in Dayton, playing semi-pro ball with a fast Dayton team. There is no game scheduled for tomorrow in the league of which his team is a member, and as a result Manager Holloran has secured him for the once day. Arrangements have been completed whereby the big fight at Toledo will be received round by round. This will be handed to the fans by Cappy Wessels, who will act as arbiter.

IN RUBBER BUSINESS.
NEW YORK.—Frank A. Vanderlip was today elected a director of the United States Rubber company.

You'd Better Take Your Old Field Glasses

Yesterday afternoon a Lima fight "bug" said: "Yes I'm going to the big battle, but I do not know if I will be in Toledo." That being a most peculiar statement, we asked him to elucidate, and he replied "You see I am going to sit in a $10 seat, and I think they are situated somewhere near Bowling Green or maybe as close as Perrysburg."

After taking the whole thing into consideration, we have arrived at the conclusion that had knew something for seating 80,000 or 100,000 people, which may be the number at the fight is going to take up some space. Even a ball field the size of the Polo Grounds would hardly suffice for that number with seats laid from bleachers to grand stand, and so many are wondering just how far they will be from the place where Jack and Jess will exchange wallops.

We have a line on this, and for the benefit of those who are now holding tickets we can show them about how far they will be from the ring-side, according to the price of ticket they hold.

Those in the $60 division will, of course, be quite close.

Those in the $50 area will be 73 feet from the ring.

Those with $40 tickets, 100 feet away.

Those with $30 tickets, 112 feet.

Those with $25 tickets, 128 feet off.

Those with $15 tickets, 176 feet, and

Those with $10 tickets, all the way from 228 feet back.

Herring to Play Here Next Sunday

Word was received yesterday afternoon by Manager Holloran of the local ball club, that Ralph Herring, receiver of unerring ability, and a favorite of Lima ball fans will be seen in action here July 4, when "Our Boys" meet the Chicago Keystone club for the third game of a series.

Herring will arrive sometime Thursday afternoon, and will perform with the locals.

Clever Fake Being Sold

Have you seen one of the fake tickets for the Willard-Dempsey fight? At least two have landed in Lima.

The tickets are cleverly gotten up and bear an advertisement of a Cincinnati cigar factory. However they look so much like the real thing that everyone is fooled.

One Lima man offered $40 for one of the tickets and paid the money. The "seller" tried to get the ticket back and he had to do a world of explaining before the piece of paste-board was returned.

The sporting editor of the Times has one of the tickets and every one who has examined it wants to dig down in his jeans pronto for money to buy it with.

JACK GRACE PICKS DEMPSEY TO LAND

TOLEDO, O., July 2.—Jack Grace, the old globe-trotter, blew into this joint the other day. Jack never misses a big bout. He has seen them all. He knows the game from A to Z and has more ideas on it than Van Camp has beans.

"Put me down as a Dempsey man," whispered the globe-trotter last night. "I've seen Willard in most every fight he ever had, and he's the same old statue to me. He never gets any better, never gets any worse. I saw him today. I say that he hits a stationary object hard, but when anything moves he's like a whale on the beach."

"Dempsey is another Jeffries. He just dropped out of the air. Fighters, you know, are just like chorus girls once in a while out of the mob we get a star."

"Here's the new star Dempsey. He dropped in just as Jeffries did. Willard is going to be surprised. He never faced a fellow like Dempsey. He's going to be shocked."

"You know Sam Pruitt got an awful shock some months ago in Philadelphia. It makes me think of what's coming to Willard. Sam had a customer who was run down. Sam advised that he box a bit, and told him how to lead the left. They put the gloves on, went along a minute or so, when the customer by mistake let a right go and caught Sam in the pit of the stomach."

"Sam wasn't expecting it get me? He fell back, grabbed his lunch basket and grasped for air. He finally got it back, and then walking over to his new customer, said, 'Don't you never try dat again. Mah goodness! I might have crossed you wit a right and kilt you. Don't never never ever do dat again. My, how lucky you was!'"

Tex Rickard issued a bulletin saying that he expects to draw $1,000,000 at the gate and had an advance sale of $400,000 and that there were $600,000 worth of tickets still left. Rickard is doing this to assure fans that there is still plenty of room and it will not be necessary to pay scalpers. A report reached here that certain parties in Chicago were already scalping the tickets. One man said that in a certain store where seats were on sale the proprietor was asking a premium of $15 on each $60 reservation.

Champ's Gloves Weigh More

Dempsey's gloves tomorrow will weigh just an ounce less than Willard's.

This is accounted for by the fact that Willard's hands are larger and an ounce more material had to be put in them.

Each pug has fitted his gloves on and they are ready.

SPECIALTIES SHOW A DECIDED UPTURN

NEW YORK, July 3.—Activity soon abated, the turnover of the first hour falling considerably under yesterday's large total. The usual reactions incident to selling for profits were most marked in General Motors, Industrial Alcohol and Baldwin Locomotive. These were more than neutralized by the greater strength of steel, tobacco, rubber and sundry specialties, rails also improving. A fresh upward movement set in toward noon, United States Steel leading at 11 1/2. Interest attached to money rates because today's offerings held until next Monday. Call loans opened at six and six half per cent. Gains ranging from the substantial to the sensational were registered at the lively opening of today's stock market. Keynotes: The leading at an initial gain of 6%, more than half of which was soon cancelled. Other strong issues included American International, Crucible Steel, Colorado Fuel, Royal Dutch, Pittsburgh, American Tobacco, Tobacco Products, International Paper, Central Leather and Texas and Pacific Copper and foot shares also added to the higher average of prices.

DAN H. KIRWAN SELLS 1,200 ACRE FARM IN AUGLAIZE COUNTY

Land is Noted as Being of the Best Improved Sort
In Ohio

LITTLE WASTE SPACE

Toledo Parties are Purchasers - Consideration is Not Stated

One of the largest real estate deals ever made in Auglaize county was closed Tuesday when D. H. Kirwan, Goshen township farmer-banker and former County Commissioner, sold his real estate holdings of ap-

DAN H. KIRWAN.

proximately 1200 acres. The land was purchased by Toledo parties.
The Kirwan farm has long been considered one of the best in Ohio, the land being improved and consisting of little or no waste spaces.
The soil in eastern Auglaize county is as good as can be found anywhere. The consideration which figured in the transaction has not been announced.

In the deal by which the mammoth farm is transferred to Toledo owners, Mr. Kirwan retains the crop produced this year. This consists of over 400 acres of wheat which is now being harvested, and about 400 acres of corn in addition to the other crops. Under the management of Mr. Kirwan this farm has produced results, his idea being to feed the greater portion of the crop into stock for market.
Mr. Kirwan states that he is undecided regarding his future, but that it is possible that Wapakoneta would be his future home and headquarters.

WILL IS PROBATED.

In probate court this morning, the will of the late, Samuel G. Moore, who died at his home in American township, June 22, 1919, was probated. All his property, both real and personal is left to his widow, Emma J. Moore. In the event of her death it is to go to a friend, Abner Henneman, Elida, the will sets forth.

DON DOWNING HOME.

Donald Downing, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Downing, 547 West Spring street arrived home last night from Camp Sherman, where he was discharged from military service. Mr.
Downing was with the 34th division, 109th engineer corps and has been in France since the first of last November. He enlisted in Lincoln, Nebraska.

SCHOOL FUND CUT DOWN.

The board of education has been refused $75,000 advance from the county treasurer, to help in financial straits, according to a decision made Thursday. The school board made a motion for the funds a week ago,
and the request was made thru Clerk
Frank Mullenbaur. The treasurer, however, limited the board's draw to $27,000.

CALL FOR GENERAL STRIKE

TACOMA, Wash., July 3.—The Tacoma Central Labor Council today sent a request to all its affiliated councils for a general strike of all union labor here as a demonstration in favor of Thomas J. Moore. The action was taken following a referendum vote of union workers. The strike call asks the workers to go out for five days beginning July 1.

MIRACULOUSLY NO LIVES LOST WHEN HOUSE BLOWN UP

Gas Leak is Supposed Cause of Most Terrific Explosion

BOY BADLY BRUISED

Interior of Dwelling, Furniture and Building are Complete Wreck

No one was seriously injured in the gas explosion which occurred late yesterday afternoon totally destroying the home of H. C. Dis-man, 1136 East Elm street. Donald Anspach, seven-year-old son of Mr.
and Mrs. M. L. Anspach, 1315 East Elm street, who was sitting on the front porch of the Disman home at the time of the explosion, was bruised about the body. The lad was thrown a distance of about 20 feet by the shock.

The explosion is thought to have been caused by an accumulation of gas in an airtight compartment just beneath the kitchen. What caused the gas to let go remains a mystery, as there was no one in the Disman home at the time of the explosion, and Mrs. Disman emphatically denies that the stove was lighted.

The shock was terrific, and showered broken glass from the house a distance of more than 100 feet.
Porches, both front and rear were torn completely loose from the house which was lifted from its foundation. There was not a piece of furniture in the entire house which was not over turned or blown out doors.

Disman today stated the damage is estimated at $2,500, and he carries $1,500 insurance on the house.

Woman Uses Her Finger Nails In Fight; Pays $10

No more is the hat pin looked upon by women as a weapon of defense, at least not by Madeline Solomon, 18, 425 1-2 South Main street, who was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of fighting with Mrs. Fern Stover. Both women are employees of Deisel-Wemmer cigar company.

When Mrs. Stover appeared in police headquarters last night to sue out a warrant, she looked as though she had been fighting with a bob-cut. Her face was considerably scratched and she says it was done by the Solomon girl.

In police court this morning,
Madeline pleaded guilty. She further stated she wears her finger nails very long in order that they may prove a protection to her.
Judge Botkin fined her $10 admonishing her to control her temper in the future.

WILSON DUE TUESDAY

NEW YORK, July 3.—President Wilson is expected to land at Hoboken at 2:30 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon. Under present plans he will cross to Manhattan on the Twenty-third street ferry and motor up Fifth avenue to Carnegie Hall where a reception will be held.
After delivering a brief address he will leave for Washington.

ARE NOT SATISFIED.

PARIS, July 3.—M. Brattiano, prime minister of Rumania, left last night for Bucharest to submit to his government the text of the treaty regarding that country.
"It is no secret," says the Petit Parisien, "that Rumania claims concerning Transylvania, Bessarabia and Bonat are not satisfied by the treaty."

NO TIMES FRIDAY

There will be no edition issued of the Lima Times Friday, owing to the Fourth of July, all departments of the paper being closed. All employees of the Times will be given a full holiday in recognition of splendid services during the shortage of labor.

HUGE MOTOR CONVOY COMING TO LIMA THURSDAY, JULY 10

No Foundation to Report
That City Was to be Given Go-by

As a result of efforts made by E.
A. Williams, president of the Garford Motor Truck company, the huge convoy of the Motor Transportation Corps, which is making a trans-continental trip, will stop overnight in Lima Thursday, July 10, to Friday, July 11. There is no authenticity in the statement that another local truck concern is responsible for the efforts made.

According to an itinerary sent out by officials, recently, Lima was not mentioned as one of the places where the convoy would go through. However, Mr. Williams after many endeavors persuaded army officials to route the trucks through this city.
The convoy will start from Washington, D. C. on July 7, and is due to arrive here either Thursday or Friday.

There will be about 60 trucks in the convoy, which is commanded by Lieut. Dr. 210 enlisted men and 30 officers. It will accompany it. It will contain ambulances, kitchens, anti-aircraft trucks and search-light trucks, besides the many other types of army vehicles.

The machines after arriving in Lima will park at the Garford plant, and attaches of the convoy will be shown through that factory. They will then be served a dinner in the Garford cafeteria. While here the truck will be put through a series of demonstrations in order to better illustrate the ability of the Motor Transportation Corps.

The trans-continental tour is being made for the purpose of boosting good roads and recruiting men for the corps. The convoy will arrive here from Byrnes, and upon leaving will make the next stop in Fort Wayne.

POLICE ON TRAIL OF MOTORCYCLE FIENDS

Numerous complaints are being received at headquarters about riders of motorcycles who persist in violating the ordinance by running their machines with the cut-out open. This is one of the greatest nuisances that citizens of Lima have to contend with, police say, and an effort will be made to eliminate it.
Officers have received instructions from Chief Roush to be on the look out for all violators, and Judge Botkin promises a heavy fine for all who are found guilty.

Demands $605 in Damages After Falling on Stairs

Claiming that she was severely injured when she fell down the stairs
in a house owned by Maurice Ducey, Eva J. Spillman, an employee of the Deisel-Wemmer Cigar company, this morning entered suit in common pleas court for $605.
According to the petition, Miss Spillman was the tenant of a building at 333 1/2 North Main street, owned by Ducey. She avers there was no light burning in the hallway the night she fell, and that it is due to negligence on the part of Ducey that she missed her step. The accident occurred January 11, 1919.

4TH OF JULY PARDON

COLUMBUS, July 3.—Ben Adkins of Portsmouth, was the recipient today of Governor Cox's Fourth of July pardon. Adkins was serving a life term in the penitentiary for second degree murder. He was committed to the penitentiary the latter part of 1916. The crime for which he was convicted was the result of a quarrel on the highway.

LAD DISAPPEARS AFTER TELLING A PITIFUL STORY

Says Strange Men
Brought Him Here,
Told to Shift For Himself.

After Visit to Juvenile Court 10-Year-Old Youngster
Fades Away.

Conveyed to Lima by two strange men, and upon reaching here was placed on the side walk on South Main street, and told to "shift for himself," is part of the story told juvenile officers this morning by a 10-year old lad, who gave his name as Allan White, and who stated he resides with an uncle, Will McCarty, in the onion marsh near McGuffey.
The lad was brought to juvenile court this morning by Rev. A. D.
Wetly, of the Lima Rescue Mission who said two women brought the boy to his place last Monday. The women stated they found the little streets late Monday night. Rev.
Wetly has been making efforts to locate the boy's people but has been unsuccessful.

It was a pitiful story told by the lad when questioned this morning by the juvenile officer. However, there appears in the minds of the authorities just a bit of doubt as to whether or not the lad has told the truth. Allan's story is—For the past five years he has been residing with his uncle near McGuffey.
Monday he was invited to ride to Lima in a wagon, and upon reaching here was put out of the vehicle.

He says his mother and father are both dead, and he had two brothers killed in the war which just ended. The boy says, he also has a cousin in Lima whose name is Robert Hanley.

Authorities, this morning, after questioning the lad returned him to Rev. Wetly, who stated he would keep the boy until his people are located. However, shortly before noon, Allan went on an errand for Rev. Wetly, and has not been seen since.

Some weeks ago a lad with a similar to Allan White ran away from his home here with a street carnival.
Authorities are now endeavoring to say there is a possibility of this lad being the one.

PROBATE DOINGS

Maudie Sanders was today in probate court, appointed guardian of Lois Sanders, a minor.
Marie A. O'Grady was appointed guardian of Jennie Chandler, who was adjudged insane about one week ago.

The will of the late George An-
spach, who died here on June 14,
1919, was filed in probate court
this morning. It was set for hearing July 15, at 9 o'clock.

Measles Prevail But Mild Form

There are still a number of cases
of measles in various parts of the city according to a report at the public health office, but the cases
are gradually growing lesser with
the extreme warm weather, according to Miss Margaret Nash, of the health office. No new cases of diptheria or other cases of contagious diseases have been reported, and one fact which is surprising is that so far this summer no cases from heat prostration have been reported despite the fact that the weather has been exceptionally hot.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

BIG FIGHT RULES ARE ALL AGREED UPON

TOLEDO, O., July 3.—The meeting of the principals and various officials of the Willard-Dempsey championship bout here tomorrow to decide upon the rules to govern
the contest, passed without a hitch.
It was decided that Willard and Dempsey should box according to the Marquis of Queensbury rules with the kidney punch and side hand chop blow barred. In clinches the men may box and protect themselves until the referee orders them to break at which command both must step back without hitting in the breakaway. In all other respects the same rules which have governed the heavyweight championship contests of the past will be in force.

JUDGMENT AWARDED

Judgment in the sum of $323.08 was awarded the Auglaize National Bank against the Buckeye Castings company. It is alleged that sum was due the banking institution on a cognovit note.

NOTICE.

SUES FOR MONEY

In common pleas court this afternoon, H. C. Parmenter filed suit to recover $500 alleged to be due the plaintiff from E. J. McElroy. The petition sets forth that McElroy after purchasing a house from the plaintiff gave a check, and later stopped payment on it. This the plaintiff is seeking to recover.

SCHOOL SUPT. ELECTED

VAN WERT, July 3.—Van Wert
city schools will be under the direction of H. M. Sullivan, of Arcanum, Ohio, next year, selection having been made by the board of education at its meeting Tuesday evening. Forty-three applicants sought the position and after investigation,
Mr. Sullivan was chosen.

Probate Doings

Maudie Sanders was today in probate court, appointed guardian of Lois Sanders, a minor.
Marie A. O'Grady was appointed
guardian of Jennie Chandler, who
was adjudged insane about one week ago.

The Will of the Late George Anspach

The will of the late George An-
spach, who died here on June 14,
1919, was filed in probate court
this morning. It was set for hearing July 15, at 9 o'clock.

Measles Prevail But Mild Form

There are still a number of cases
of measles in various parts of the city according to a report at the public health office, but the cases
are gradually growing lesser with
the extreme warm weather, according to Miss Margaret Nash, of the health office. No new cases of diptheria or other cases of contagious
diseases have been reported, and one
fact which is surprising is that so far this summer no cases from heat
prostration have been reported despite the fact that the weather has been exceptionally hot.
